It would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to locate someone in these United States who did not agree that Government Regulations are a necessary evil in order to maintain the Good & Welfare of the Public and protect the people from unscrupulous people and practices. However, not a day goes by when we fail to hear complaints about how over-regulated we are in both our business and private lives.

Recently there has been a rash of new Regulations and proposed new regulations as the new layer of Bureaucrats who landed in high places in the Government as the Administration paid off some political debt to Consumer Advocates, Big Labor and minorities of all colors and sexes, as well as Pressure Groups with a limitless number of axes to grind ranging from air & water to small darters and other rare animals, insects and plant life.

Carter Veto Said to Be Certain, House Leaders Reported Preparing Substitute Bill Should It Be Needed

The Senate Monday passed the emergency farm bill, which would benefit grain and cotton farmers. The vote was 49 to 41, far short of a margin to override President Carter's promised veto of the bill. The House vote on the bill is also expected to be close and passage is in doubt. Opponents of the farm aid programs are calling them highly inflationary, and with the President's announced intention of outlining an anti-

Inflation program this week the timing of the bill could not be more inelastic as the farmers are concerned.

A new bill of strategy was reported ahead as Congressman Thomas Foley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee was said to be drafting a substitute farm bill to be submitted for the present bill and which would scale down some of the more objectionable provisions. (CONT. ON PAGE 10)

Farm Bill
sages to where Carter would hesitate to veto and bring down the ire of the sorely pressed farmers. The substitute bill would be a move which might save some face for Congressmen faced with tough fights to be reelected in November.

HF1 Cows, 4 years old and bred to Santa Gertrudis bulls, and 260 Santa Gertrudis x B x HF1, ready to breed. This group is eligible for grading up program in Santa Gertrudis International. All heifers are dehorned. Cattle may be seen at the ranch at any time.

Mayfair Ranch has maintained a herd of top Santa Gertrudis cattle for many years, and is a top producer of F1 cattle.

Owner is George Butler. For information contact Jim Theeck, Manager of Mayfair Ranch, Rt. 5, Box 215, Brenham, Texas 77833, 713/836-8952, or the sale management, Britten & Britten, Bryan, Texas 77801, 713/822-4335 or 822-6091.

The current farm bill drew objections from the Congressional Budget Committee and Chairman Muskie claimed it would cost the government $5.7 billion and the average family of four an additional $101 per year in their food budget. Both figures have been labeled inflated by backers of the bill.

The bill, with a new "flexible parity" system, provides a graduated scale of target prices for 1978 crops of wheat, feed grains, and upland cotton based on the amount of acreage farmers agree to keep out of production. It also increases loan rates on 1978 crops and increases the borrowing authority of the Commodity Credit Corp. from $14.4 billion to $25 billion.

The government pays farmers the difference between the target price and the average price. The loan rate is the amount the government will lend farmers against their crops, giving them cash while they hold their harvest for later sale.

The House vote, probably on Tuesday, is expected to be close with a strong chance the bill will be vetoed. Some leaders thought President Carter then might accept a compromise — perhaps a flat increase in the target price for wheat from $8 a bushel to $8.40 or $8.50. Others said the administration's adamant — defeat in the House or a veto, but no compromise.

Haw Creek Ranch Etching Brahman Into Oklahoma

by Joe Ed Brockett
Director of Communications
American Brahman Breeders Assoc.
It's cattle country, with a lot of emphasis on country. The towns are small and so scattered that they seem almost lost in the shadows of the silent mountains surrounding them.
The men in these foothills in southeastern Oklahoma are cattlemen and proud of it. L.P. Renfro is no different. He moved to Hodgen in 1960 and brought 16 purebred Brahman bulls with him for use as commercial bulls. As Haw Creek Ranch was carved out of the mountain into reality, Renfro began adding a few registered Brahman cows to his commercial herd. He let the size of this registered herd grow as he gradually increased the market for his Brahman bulls with the local commercial cattlemen and now registered Brahmans are his principal product.
Renfro is no stranger to the cow business or registered Brahman either one. In 1987 he and his family were living in Huntington, Texas and Renfro was buying a lot of local cattle to put together and then ship out of Houston. In his various business dealings he became acquainted with Edgar Hudgins of Hungerford, Texas.

"Edgar Hudgins always treated me

These two yearlings were purchased by L.P. Renfro on one of his last trips to Texas. The calf on the left came from Estaban Garcia III, Encino, and the calf on the right from SP Farms, Troup.

First-cross Brahman x Santa Gertrudis heifer on the Haw Creek Ranch. She will go back into the commercial cow herd.

Nice," Renfro said. "At the time I could only buy a few head at once but all I had to do was call him up when I had enough money for them and he would pen a hundred head for me to pick from."

"People back then would make fun of me for spending $180 for pairs and $125 for bred heifers," he continued.
"Of course commercial cattle were only selling for $25 a pair."

From the back of the house, Haw Creek Ranch seems to be stretching for the sky with a blanket of timber.
Yet the valleys are clean and offer cattle a variety of both native and planted grasses. The land clearly shows the hand of man. The trees have been left to the hillside and ridges while the bottom land is a series of cleared "islands" of grass.

Only enough trees remain to separate the pastures and provide shade in the summer as well as windbreaks in winter.

As the Ford truck bounced and crept over the rocky trail Renfro continued his story of his early days in the Brahman business.

"I had seen a few good Brahman on my trips and they fascinated me. My father had owned crossbred cattle and grade bulls all my life and I decided to get some Brahman cattle."

"Two of the heifers that I purchased early were bred to Aristocrat Manso and one of them had a bull calf. He later sold for $5,000 to a lawyer from Jasper, Texas that was getting into the Brahman business.

Renfro paused for a moment as he eased the truck through a creek bed and then up a particularly stiff incline on the opposite bank.
"I sold most of my bulls to local buyers for $100 a head. They were using them to cross on Angus and Hereford cows as well as native East Texas cows. One year Edgar Hudgins sent a buyer to me who contracted the year's entire calf crop. He sent them all to Florida. It was along then that Walter Hudgins told me something I've tried to remember. 'Son,' he said,

'there is one thing you don't want to forget. You can make more money

Haw Creek Ranch Etching Brahman Into Oklahoma

with a few good cattle well taken care of than you can with a lot of cattle not taken care of."

The year 1941-1945 touched many lives in the United States as well as the world. In 1944 Renfro was called up by the Navy and before being inducted he dispersed all of his cattle at private treaty. It would be 16 years before he would own registered Brahmans again.

Time and weather have knifed their lines into his face and hands but Renfro is still lean and hard from years of physical labor. His cows are in better shape than most of the others seen from the roadside and they show the effects of good pasture management.

"We got some winter pasture with our fescue," he explained. "As soon as I can, I plan to put more of it in. It isn't straight fescue, but is mixed with common bermuda and ladina clover."

He went on to describe his summer forage, saying that most of the pastures consisted of bahala, alfalfa, and coastal bermudagrass. Of the three, Renfro is partial to alfalfa. He said that the cattle like it better and it seems to do better on poorer soils than other grasses provided that it gets sufficient rainfall. His coastal isn't doing as well as he would like.

Renfro currently has his cows calving from March to May. That keeps them from the worst of the cold weather and if he has a late calf that seems to be pulling a cow down too much during the fall he will wean it early and feed it. Renfro said that the cows seem to winter fine even if they get some snow and ice but that the worst thing for them was a cold rain.
His herds make most of their shelter in the trees and get fed hay and a protein supplement through the coldest months.

Renfro is proud of the impact that Brahmans are beginning to have in the Oklahoma area and describes their continuing growth as being time-related.

"It's always been the same story," he said. "When you first go into an area with Brahman cattle people are afraid of them because they don't understand them. Then when they see how much faster the calves grow and what better cows the crossbred heifers make they begin to try them."

Haw Creek Ranch was etched into the sides of the mountains by man's hands and determination. The same tools are etching Brahman into Oklahoma's cattle industry.

AMERICAN RED BRANGUS ASSOCIATION NEWS

BY JOHN SOSNOWY

One of the largest crowds in recent years attended the Red Brangus week last month in East Texas. Thanks go to Lee and Mickie Gregory for hosting the dinner and dance on Saturday night prior to their first Bar G Bar Ranch production sale on Sunday, March 12. Both the food and fellowship were terrific. Thanks also to Dan Hollis of the Rocking H Ranch and Jabe Johnson of the Double J Ranch for hosting the Field Day tour and showing off some fine Red Brangus cattle.

Bidding was split at the Bar G Bar sale as auctioneer Bert Reyes banged the gavel down on 100 lots of Red Brangus that grossed $92,940. The sale was highlighted by 11 top quality bred heifers that averaged $1,231, and three herd bulls that averaged $2,970 each.

At the American Red Brangus Association board of directors meeting on Saturday afternoon, March 11, sale chairman Mike Levi presented detailed plans for the first annual Superior Quality Red Brangus Half Futurity to be held Dec. 1, 1978, at the Paleface Ranch in conjunction with their annual bull sale. By now all active members should have received their applications form to nominate one outstanding female for the futurity. A nomination accompanied by the first entry payment must be received in the Association office by May 1, 1978.

Heifers will be divided into two classes. One for senior heifers born between Oct. 15, 1977 and Dec. 31, 1977. And the second for junior heifers born between Jan. 1, 1978 and March 15, 1978. Mike has secured the services of Dr. Randall Grooms, well-known and qualified livestock judge to place the heifers and explain why the winners won. All entry fees will be awarded as prize money and trophies for winning heifers.

We are planning an aggressive advertising campaign for this sale. We hope all Red Brangus breeders realize the potential of this type of sale for our breed, and are planning now to participate as both a seller and a buyer.

CORRECTION — In our January news letter this year we discussed at some length how much a commercial cattleman can realistically afford to pay for a bull. Among our conservative assumptions were a $450 salvage value and $400 per cwt. price. And we said that a good Red Brangus Bull was a bargain.

Now let's set our numbers to reflect today's prices. On March 20, 1978, a Red Brangus commercial herd sire was retired and shipped through the side ring at Milano, Texas. Salvage value was $913; for 2,046 pounds at 45.10 cwt. And with calf prices now bumping 50c, it is obvious that a good Red Brangus bull for a $1,000 is still a steal. Even $1,500 is a real bargain. Red Brangus are truly "Profit Producers". Don't you agree?

Dan Hollis, left, president of American Red Brangus Assn., of Henderson, expounds on some of his Red Brangus as part of a large group in the Field Day tour which made one of its three stops at his place March 11.

Lee Gregory's Red Brangus Avg. $930

New Summerfield, Texas — Lee Gregory, owner of Bar G Bar Ranch near here, grossed $92,940 on 100 head of Red Brangus cattle for an average of $930 in his first production sale held March 12. He also sold nine Brahman bulls for $5,425 for an average of $605. The sale was managed by Syler Sales Management, Inc., Burton, and auctioneered by Bert Reyes, San Antonio. In the sale, 11 bred heifers grossed $13,540 for an average of $1,231; 58 exposed heifers $48,785 for an average of $840; five pairs $8,375 for a $875 average; the 74 female lots

$66,670 to average $801; three herd bulls $5,900 to average $2,970; and 28 range bulls $17,370 to average $765. Bar S Bar Ranch at New Summerfield was one of the top volume buyers, taking 20 lots for $19,760, including the sale-topping bull, at $3,800. Mr. Bar G Bar 15/6, an April 2, 1975 son of PFR Oscar's Improver 100/3 Gregory's chief herd sire owned jointly with Mike Levi's Paleface Ranch at Spicewood. Bar S Bar also bought the top selling female, a May 12, 1975 daughter of the 100/3 bull, for $2,700.

Levi's Paleface Ranch, another of the top buyers, purchased 17 lots for $18,965, including a bred cow, Miss PFR 215/5, for $2,000, and a bull for $1,700.

TEXAS RED ANGUS NEWS

Texas Red Angus Bull Test At Can-Tex Considered

The possibility of a Texas Red Angus bull performance test later this year at Navarro College's Can-Tex Beef Test Station at Corsicana was discussed and tentatively approved in a meeting of the association's board of directors at the new Robert Justus Kleberg Jr. Animal and Food Sciences Center at Texas A&M University and Aggeland Inn at College Station April 2, according to Clifford J. Halfmann, Rewena, president.

"It is the hope of the officers and directors that Red Angus breeders will give their comments or wishes toward a Texas bull test by May 20 so that TRA can notify Navarro College of its decision," Halfmann said.

During the meeting Wayne Burkhalter Jr., Agriculture Department Coordinator for Navarro College, explained in detail its bull testing program. Tim Bauer of Winona, showed slides of the Can-Tex-Bull station during Burkhalter's commentary.

The directors also approved a plan to run an ad in the national Red Angus Directory issue of the "American Red Angus" magazine in its July issue listing all currently paid up members of the Texas Association.

The annual Texas Red Angus Field Day was also discussed and a date and place for it will be announced in the near future.

Many TRA members also expressed the wish that another Junior Red Angus Show can be added to those already sponsored by TRA, this one to be at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas in October.

Red Angus Judging At San Antonio

San Antonio — Champion Red Angus steer at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition this year was exhibited by Larry Lawrence of Pflugerville. Sue Millap of Killam had the reserve champion steer. Those two steers had earlier won first and second places respectively in the heavy weight class. With 43 entries, this was the largest Red Angus steer show in history of the San Antonio Livestock Show.

Bobby and Barry Nabours of Temple showed the champion heifer in the Junior Red Angus heifer show at San Antonio the next day. Reserve champion heifer was also shown by Barry Nabours.

The third place heavy weight steer was shown by Jamie Collins, Austin, and fourth by Terry Salek, Bastrop. Other class placings were: Medium weight: 1. Jerry Gleason, Muleshoe; 2. Leslie Hudson, Elgin; 3. Ruddy Parshler, Houston; 4. Bruce Toepke, Mason. Light weight: 1. Mark Arnold, Ennis; 2. L. McAdams, Lewisville; 3. Janet Wilkinson, Coleman; 4. Bryan Setzer, New Braunfels.

Dr. Bill Able, associate professor of the Department of Agricultural Sciences, Kansas State Univ., Manhattan, Kan., judged the steers.

In the heifer show judged by Larry L. Bolomon, Area Beef Cattle Specialist, Bryan, the champion heifer was awarded a banner and trophy donated by Clifford and Denale Halfmann, Bowman, and the reserve champion heifer a pen and trophy also donated by the Halfmanns.

Owen Kelle & Sons of Iowa donated two trophies and Bob and Anne Biggs of Dallas donated two trophies, one of which was presented to the first place winners of the four classes.

Champion Red Angus Steer Of Houston Show Brings $10 Lb.

Houston — Larry Lawrence, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lawrence of Pflugerville, who had earlier shown the grand champion Red Angus steer at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition, made it a double victory when he showed the grand champion Red Angus steer in the Houston Livestock Show this year. The 18-month old, 1,160-pound steer that came from the Oklahoma Select Club Sale last year, sold for $10 per pound in the sale of winners following the Houston judging.

Lawrence has been showing livestock for nine years, eight of which he showed in Houston, taking the reserve championship in the Red Angus steer show there in 1975.

Leslie Hudson, 10, of Elgin, showed his 18-month-old, 984-pound steer to reserve championship in the Red Angus steer show at Houston. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hudson, this was the Elgin Elementary student's first time to enter the Houston show.

Ruddy Parshler, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. B.D. Parshler, Houston, showed his 924-pound 17-month-old steer to first place in the lightweight Red Angus steer class.

George Strathern, Fresno, Calif., judged the steers.

Kimbell MEDICATED FEEDS ARE MONEY MAKERS

It goes without saying that no program or type of feed can guarantee a profit on a particular set of livestock. However, it is possible to guarantee that with proper management a feeding program will make livestock more valuable — better money makers.

KIMBELL Medicated Feeds Are Designed to Improve Animal Health and Balance Nutrition

This type of program improves the appearance, gives livestock the "good doing" look — this convinces your buyers they are "worth more".

This type of program actually makes your livestock "do better" — control of disease and parasites adds pounds — they are "worth more."
